

NATIONAL ART EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Dear School Administrators,

On behalf of the National Art Education Association, I am reaching out to advocate for the consideration of a stipend for your National Art Honor Society chapter sponsor to support the essential work they do in leading this nationally recognized program.

For more than 40 years, the National Art Honor Society programs have provided meaningful national recognition for student achievement in the visual arts. These programs are proudly supported by the National Art Education Association and are recognized as prestigious opportunities that promote excellence in arts scholarship, character, and service.

National Art Honor Society chapters help students build leadership skills, contribute to their communities through art-based service projects, and prepare for future success in college and careers. Students gain access to national exhibitions, scholarships, awards, and resume-enhancing experiences. Sponsors also benefit from access to exclusive resources, professional support, and national visibility for their art programs.

The sponsor's role in maintaining a successful chapter is significant. In addition to overseeing membership, inductions, service events, and student leadership development, sponsors manage ongoing administrative responsibilities throughout the school year. Many nationally recognized honor societies provide stipends for educators serving in these essential advisor roles—and we encourage administrators to consider the same support for National Art Honor Society sponsors.

As the creative economy continues to grow, there is increasing demand for innovative thinkers, collaborators, and creative leaders. The National Art Honor Society actively cultivates these qualities and helps position students for success in the modern workforce and beyond. Supporting sponsors with a stipend not only acknowledges their professional efforts but also reinforces the value of visual arts education in the school community.

Thank you for supporting the arts and the educators who make programs like the National Art Honor Society possible.

Sincerely,

Paula Liz

NAEA Associate Director of Programs and Creative Engagement | pliz@arteducators.org