Connect Visual Arts, Design, and Media Arts Educators to a Community of Professional Learning and Recognition!

NATIONAL ART EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

National Art Education Association (NAEA) district packages are one of the most cost-effective ways to demonstrate that your district takes visual arts education seriously.

Your NAEA Professional Learning District Package Includes the following for ALL your art educators:

Premier Professional Learning for Visual Arts, Design, and Media Arts Educators
Instructional development will be at the fingertips of your visual arts faculty with the NAEA Professional Learning Studio. Engage in live and archived experiences and earn professional learning credit and even CEUs. NAEA works with experts in the field to offer hundreds of hours of practical learning through engagement for visual arts, design, and media arts educators.

Access to Premier Resources for the Field
Your art teachers are experts. NAEA provides timely resources to help them stay at the forefront of what is happening in visual arts education—from research to practice. Subscriptions to Art Education Journal, and digital subscriptions to NAEA News and Davis Publications' SchoolArts Magazine will part of your educators' personal libraries.

NAEA National Convention Registration
The 2027 NAEA National Convention takes place in New York City, March 4–6, and is the pinnacle event of visual arts education. From world-class museums to groundbreaking professional learning, this event offers unparalleled opportunities for all levels of educators.

All district packages include NAEA National Convention registration discounts. We can also work with you to include covering the full cost of National Convention registration for some or all the educators in your district!

National Art Honor Societies
Add on the option of providing National Art Honor Societies (NAHS) chapters for your elementary, middle, and/or high schools. NAHS chapters connect your outstanding visual arts learners to the more than 50,000 student members as well as opportunities for scholarships, exhibits, publication, and more!

All district packages include the opportunity to begin NAHS chapters. We can also work with you to include covering the full cost of chapter registration for educators in your district!

Creative Engagement
Connecting with fellow art educators through NAEA provides access to a professional community where educators can share proven strategies, stay current on research and standards, and find mentorship that's often hard to get within a single school. Broadening your art educators' network broadens your students' horizons!

Invest in your district's visual arts educators by providing access to the National Art Education Association's professional learning opportunities, and more! At the district level, every teacher benefits—not just the ones who happen to find it on their own. You get consistent, high-quality professional growth across your entire visual arts, design, and media arts programs, and teachers feel supported!

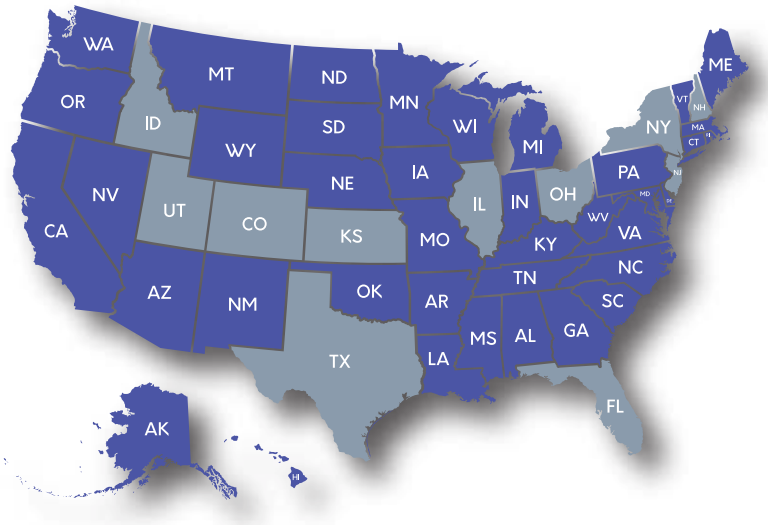
Let's talk about it!

Let's discuss how we can collaborate to provide professional learning for your visual arts educators!

- Email us at districts@arteducators.org
- Call us at 800-299-8321
- Or fill out the introductory form at https://tinyurl.com/naea-districts

Professional learning and connection at the state level!

While NAEA professional learning is available in all states, the states highlighted in purple below also include access to all opportunities offered by our partnering state art education associations. This gives visual arts educators access to learning, resources, and collaboration nationally and locally!



Providing NAEA professional learning for visual arts, design, and media arts educators, you will help to:

Strengthen instruction: Your art teachers have access to current, research-informed strategies for studio practice, design thinking, digital media, and standards-aligned curriculum.

Support retention and morale: Teachers who have a professional community and growth opportunities in their own discipline are more likely to stay at their current positions and thrive.

Connect the arts to district priorities: Visual arts instruction supports creativity, communication, problem-solving, social-emotional learning, and career readiness, including pathways in design, media, and the creative economy.

Increase accessibility and build consistency: A professional learning package gives every art teacher in your area access to the same high-quality professional learning and connectivity. Shared learning experiences help teachers across schools align on practice, language, and expectations for student growth.

About NAEA

The National Art Education Association (NAEA) is the professional home for visual arts, design, and media arts educators. As a collaborative, worldwide community, NAEA continues to shape and advocate for the field while promoting and providing professional learning, research, resources, connectivity, and opportunities since our founding in 1947.